Max Schling's GARDEN MONTHLY

Vol. 1, No. 6

July, 1941

This departure from our regular form was considered advisable because of the many items of importance to the garden lover that we have to offer this month. The items presented in this folder are garden aristocrats of such calibre as to transcend the importance of everything else at this time of the year.

This bulletin will also serve as a reminder that it is time to plant the items that are featured.

Do not neglect the sowing of the annuals that are presented here, and remember that August to October is the time to make a strawberry bed.

Peonies must be planted as early as possible this fall and our presentation of Bearded Iris is the best that we have made in years.

Another reminder that we can make at this time is to order your spring flowering bulbs such as Tulips, Crocus, Hyacinths, etc. early. We have contracted for huge quantities, but in these parlous times one never knows what to expect.

We hope that your Schling garden is better than ever this year.

Respectfully yours,

MAX SCHLING SEEDSMEN, Inc.

Luscious Strawberries

ARE YOURS FOR THE PLANTING

True Strawberry Flavor Can be Obtained When the Fruits are Garden Fresh

STRAWBERRY PLANTING TIME — AUGUST TO OCTOBER

Pot-grown Strawberries only, are offered here, for we feel that only pot-grown plants can give the best satisfaction.

COLLECTION

The following varieties will insure a continuous crop of Strawberries from early June until late fall. Each variety listed has been selected as the best of its bearing season.

DORSETT. Extra early.
MARSHALL. Midseason.
BIG LATE. Late.
MASTODON. Everbearing.

12 plants of each (48 in all) $4.50
25 plants of each (100 in all) 8.50
50 plants of each (200 in all) 16.00

EARLY-BEARING VARIETIES:

Dorsett. Undoubtedly the most popular variety.
Bright rich red. Most delicious flavor.
Premier. Uniformly big, shapely berries.

EARLY TO MIDSEASON:

Fairfax. Ripening after Dorsett. One of the best.
Marshall. Gigantic dark crimson fruits.

MIDSEASON TO LATE:

Chesapeake. Mild, non-acid and sweet.
Big Joe. Old favorite. Grows with almost no care in any soil.

LATE:

Big Late. Heavy producer. Berries held well above ground.

Gandy. Fine canning and shipping berries.

Price on all of the above:
$3.00 for 25; $10.00 per 100.

EVERBEARING VARIETY:

Mastodon. Affectionately known as the Wonder Berry. Out-yielding some of the best early sorts in their regular season, it continues to produce throughout summer and fall. $4.50 for 25; $12.50 per 100.

Lilla Cox. Double. Light blue veined white.

Mrs. J. Alexander Hayden. Double. White shaded pale violet.

Strong, field-grown clumps, $1.00 each. The collection of 6 for $5.00.

PEONIES - For Best Results Plant Early

It is important to plant Peonies early so that the roots may begin a strong growth before hard winter sets in. While late planted Peonies produce very nicely, the difference between early and late planting is quite marked. Our tip is to plant as early in September as possible.

Two Fine Collections

SCHLING'S HARDY PERENNIALS — Sow Any

HOW TO GROW THEM. Hardy plants (perennials) bloom the second year from seed and are permanent thereafter. Some of them may bloom the first year if the seed is sown very early. Among the perennials we find some of the most beautiful flowers for cutting and many of the old-fashioned sorts dear to our childhood memories. A hardy border properly planned and planted is a source of joy from early spring to late autumn; during that period it will be resplendent with color and yield an abundance of bloom for indoor decoration. The plants need little attention other than to be kept free from weeds and given an occasional top-dressing of plant-food.

WHEN TO SOW. Seed may be sown in a hotbed in February or March, or out-of-doors from the first days of May to mid-August. It is well to sow as early as possible, thus permitting the plants to become strong and well established before winter.

WHERE TO SOW. For most perennials a cold frame is an ideal place for starting seeds, but if you do not have one, make a seed-bed of finely sifted light soil, adding and mixing thoroughly well-decayed manure, humus, or prepared plant-food. Sow the seeds in shallow drills, covering $\frac{1}{8}$ inch or more, according to the size of the seed, but very fine seed should only be lightly pressed into the soil.

CARE OF SEEDS AFTER SOWING. Press down the bed with a flat board, and water gently but thoroughly with a fine spray. Do not permit the soil to become dry while the seed is in process of germination, for until the plant develops roots its life depends entirely on moisture. Nearly all failures in growing perennials may be attributed to drying in the seed-bed, which should be carefully watched and watered until the plants have made from four to five leaves.

CARE OF PLANTS AFTER GERMINATION. Most seeds will germinate in from eight to fourteen days, but others may need a month or so; therefore do not become impatient. If seedlings come up very thickly, pull out some and transplant to boxes or other seed-beds; later they may be set out in the permanent place. Transplanting should be done before October 1, to permit the plants to become established before frost. Mulching the plants with leaves, salt hay, or peat moss about the middle of December is a distinct advantage. The leaves and hay must be removed in spring, but the peat moss may remain. Full cultural directions will be found on each packet of Schling's seeds.

Everybody wants perennials in generous measure, to secure effects in color and charm. If you delay and finally buy plants, an attractive perennial border may require several hundred dollars' worth of plants.

Exactly the same results can be secured with $10 to $15 worth of Seeds! And aside from the money-saving, you have the fascination of growing your own plants, nursing them from the beginning, and loving them all the more! Sow your seeds now, and the plants will bloom next year.

Schling's Best Annuals for Fall Sowing

We consider it advisable to list annual seeds that are very satisfactory for fall sowing, hardy annuals whose seed overwinter in the open ground.

The advantage of fall sowing is very marked. As soon as the weather breaks the following spring, the seed will germinate and the seedlings will be very much farther advanced than from spring sowing or from the use of transplanted seedlings.

The best date to sow most of this seed is November 1st to November 15th. If large masses of Petunias are desired, nothing could be more satisfactory than sowing such varieties as Rosy Morn, Rose of Heaven, etc., in the fall.

The same rule applies to Mignonette.

Due to limited listings we offer here only the best of each variety.
